Difference between List, List>, List, List, and List

The notation List> means "a list of something (but I'm not saying what)". Since the code in test works for any kind of object in the list, this works as a formal method parameter. Using a type parameter ...

slice

The first way works for a list or a string; the second way only works for a list, because slice assignment isn't allowed for strings. Other than that I think the only difference is speed: it looks like it's a little ...

Python: list of lists

The first, [:], is creating a slice (normally often used for getting just part of a list), which happens to contain the entire list, and thus is effectively a copy of the list. The second, list(), is using the actual ...

Meaning of list[-1] in Python

I have a piece of code here that is supposed to return the least common element in a list of elements, ordered by commonality: `def getSingle(arr): from collections import Counter c = Counter`

What is the difference between list [1] and list [1:] in Python?

By using a : colon in the list index, you are asking for a slice, which is always another list. In Python you can assign values to both an individual item in a list, and to a slice of the list.
