

National development solar container fell 142

Overview

The Drewry World Container Index (WCI) decreased 4% to $2,445 per 40ft container, mainly due to a drop in rates on the Transpacific and Asia-Europe trade routes. The extent and impact of falling costs, a trajectory that has resumed after post-pandemic isn't blowing and the sun isn't shining. Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory compiled and synthesized empirical data on the U.S. The focus is on ground-mounted systems larger than 5M AC, including photovoltaic (PV) standalone and PV+battery hybrid projects (smaller projects are covered in Berkeley Lab's. Wind and solar investments in the first half of 2025 fell 18%, to nearly US$35 billion (prior to the enactment of this act), compared to the same period in 2024. (1) The results of our Levelized Cost of Energy ("LCOE") analysis reinforce what we observe across the Power, Energy & Infrastructure Industry—sizeable and well-capitalized companies that can take advantage of supply chain and other economies of.
